

Real surprise packet

THIS crowd took us by surprise. Victory Motorcycles, never heard of them until the other day.

We'll have to get out more.

But the brand has been around longer than you think - 11 years as of July 4, 2009, nothing in the greater scheme of things concerning motorcycle manufacturing.

But it's been more than 60 years since any new touring American motorcycle has entered the world market and succeeded. Victory reckons it has broken the drought.

Polaris, which makes jetskis and snowmobiles, is the parent company and started the Victory ball rolling in 1998.

Lucky it had a solid mechanical background to ensure quality, reliability contact with new automotive technology.

Victory's styling is influenced by today's custom motorcycles.

Performance comes from the choice of either a 1634cc or the 1731cc V-twin engine.

The Victory range caters for riders seeking a premium tourer, modern custom street cruiser or a hard edge muscle machine.

All machines are supported with a comprehensive range of accessories to ensure all Victories can be tailored to meet each customer's personal taste and requirements.

Victory... a new face on the block.

The line-up comprises the Victory Vegas - a cool custom cruiser, the Hammer "muscle" cruiser with its all-out sports performance and the Kingpins give riders total comfort and power for open road riding.

There's also a Vision and eye-catching Ness Series in the range.

Victory Vision is possibly the most exciting model in the range because it's a machine built on an aluminum cast chassis with a styling that is instantly recognisable.

This revolutionary design with its big engine, coupled with some of the most modern comfort features on any motorcycle, ensures Vision is a world-class premium tourer.

For the customer seeking the ultimate in individuality of custom machine, the Ness Signature series delivers what other brands can only dream of. All Ness Signature machines are individually numbered and customized to a level that guarantees attention wherever they are seen.

The launch of Victory into Australia was in response to the desire for a genuine alternative to the touring and street cruisers currently available.

Victory outlets are in Melbourne, Newcastle, Mackay, Brisbane and Darwin.
